

About the 2018 Learning Exchange

Creating magical moments across space and time: Building CMM communities of practice

Creating is a central theme in a CMM framework: we create meanings, we create relationships, we create our social worlds. In this year's Learning Exchange we want to pay particular attention to how we create our very own CMM communities of practice.

The idea of Communities of Practice (CoP) has gained traction over the past few years and we invite you to explore with us:

- What do we want to do with the idea of a CoP?
- What does it take to create a CoP and what does it do?
- How can we make it work for us from a CMM perspective?

We will have a series of working sessions exploring these type of issues around specific areas of interest for different CMM inspired CoPs, including:

- CosmoKidz
- A virtual community for CMM inspired practices
- Global communities
- Student/learning communities

The idea that CMM can help us to create magical moments—with the pun on CMM deliberately intended—in our social lives ran as a current through last year's Learning Exchange in London. We felt this idea of creating magical moments could be worked in so many creative ways that we now want to also invite you to explore the possibilities with us at our 7th Annual Learning Exchange.

So our guiding questions for all of us coming to the Learning Exchange are:

What are our aspirations for CMM-related communities of practice?

What do we want to learn with and from each other?

How do we create communities of practice using CMM ?

And how do we bring about many magical moments doing so?
